

"Last Day A Pixel Saved My Life"

Blissland is an art and new media project located in Berlin, run by a collective of artists and musicians. In the Land of Bliss every single atom is permeated with Art, and every month we try to alter the composition by mixing atoms of Sound, Visual and Culture, in order to create a different reality where it is possible to see with different eyes, hear with different ears, think different thoughts and speak different languages.

- Concept of the Exhibition

A memory is a faded moment, a blurred silhouette. The smartphone, instead, objectifies it with maniacal precision, catching every detail that eludes the glance, combining space, time and sound as only a machine could do. Still, paradoxically, the accuracy of data and images does not bring a cold and detached vision, but opens to the stranger the doors of a new impression, of a new, faded, memory.

- Media

Necessary: having a Smartphone with integrated camera and audio recorder, plus possibility to geotag the pictures. The modalities of the photos, including filters and softwares are completely free, but the geotag must be active; the recording of the place should be a minute long.

Standard Printing Formats: square (15X15cm), 13X18cm, 10x16cm.

Send us the picture, the recording and the geotag coordinates (date, address, latitude and longitude).

- Terms of Application

Send the signed application form plus a jpeg image of the artwork submitted and an audio file with the recording to info@blissland.eu

Deadline for application: February, 26

Deadline for delivery: March, 8

Send the artwork with no glass and no frame, in safe package (reusable for a possible delivery back). We are not responsible for postal damages or delays!

For logistical matters we will send you the exact address for the delivery with a personal message.

The artwork will be property of Blissland, entering its collection in order to sell it even when the exhibition expires. In case of personal request we will send it back, but it will be on your charge.

The copyright for usage and reproduction of the artwork (not including this Event) are property of the Artist. In case the artwork is sold, Blissland will charge the 30%.

• Admission

Admission Fee is 10 euros for each artwork; it's possible to participate with more than one artwork.

The contribute will be used for the costs of installation/caring/promotion.

We will promote your work on International Medias and websites, on flyers and postcards all over Berlin and in other international galleries of the country.

The project will have a personal webpage where every artwork will be presented with your infos and contacts.

We intend to print a catalogue, if the minimum number of participants is reached (a copy would then be sent to you).

The payment shall be done in the following ways:

- Online with credit card: using Paypal on the page www.blissland.eu/pay.html
- Bank transfer: the data will be communicated on demand.

• Privacy Policy

Your personal data and artworks images will be used only for Promotion and only from Blissland.

We can remove or change your personal infos and images from our website whenever you want by sending a message to info@blissland.eu as long as it's suitable with our duties and schedule.
